A Screening of the Chilean Film Cielo de agua (2018)

Tuesday, April 16, 6:30 p.m.
James Bridges Theater, Melnitz Hall, UCLA

Followed by a Q&A with the filmmakers

Margarita Poseck and Eugenia Poseck delve deeply into Chilean history in their German-Spanish-language film exploring the German immigration to the South of Chile since 1848. This process of colonization has left scars which still affect the coexistence of Chileans of different origins.

The Poseck siblings have a serene yet gripping, more contemplative than preaching view on the cultural and historical legacy of colonization, which continues to shape contemporary conflicts in the Araucanía region.
