Lecture Talk with Dr. Karina Alma

In her talk, Dr. Karina Alma challenges how Central America and Central Americans have been represented historically as a people and region devoid of knowledge and culture. Her talk centers U.S. Central American counternarratives, produced by several generations of Central American cultural makers, to address how these communities have been attempting to heal transnational cultural traumas and to challenge the epistemic violence that they face daily in this time of crisis.

PRESENTATION ROOM OF CHARLES E. YOUNG RESEARCH LIBRARY
APRIL 30 2019 at 1:00PM

SPONSORED BY:
UCLA César E. Chávez Department of Chicana and Chicano Studies
Social Sciences Division

SUPPORTED BY:
CENTRAL AMERICAN STUDIES WORKING GROUP
UNICA